Pucker up it's picture time!

Don't look so serious, Doc.

Tyson, way to be candid!

Maria, you're so camera shy, NOT!
Wiglaf, stop disturbing your classmates.

Francesco, don't look so happy, you're in school.

P.G.A., wonder what that stands for?

Dan, Dan, the physics man.

Eric, don't look so serious, it's lunch time.

I don't think you're studying Beowulf, guys!

Did we wake you up, Duff?

Can we share that banana, Rob?

Don't forget any of your homework, Matt.

How many words can you type a minute, Rob?

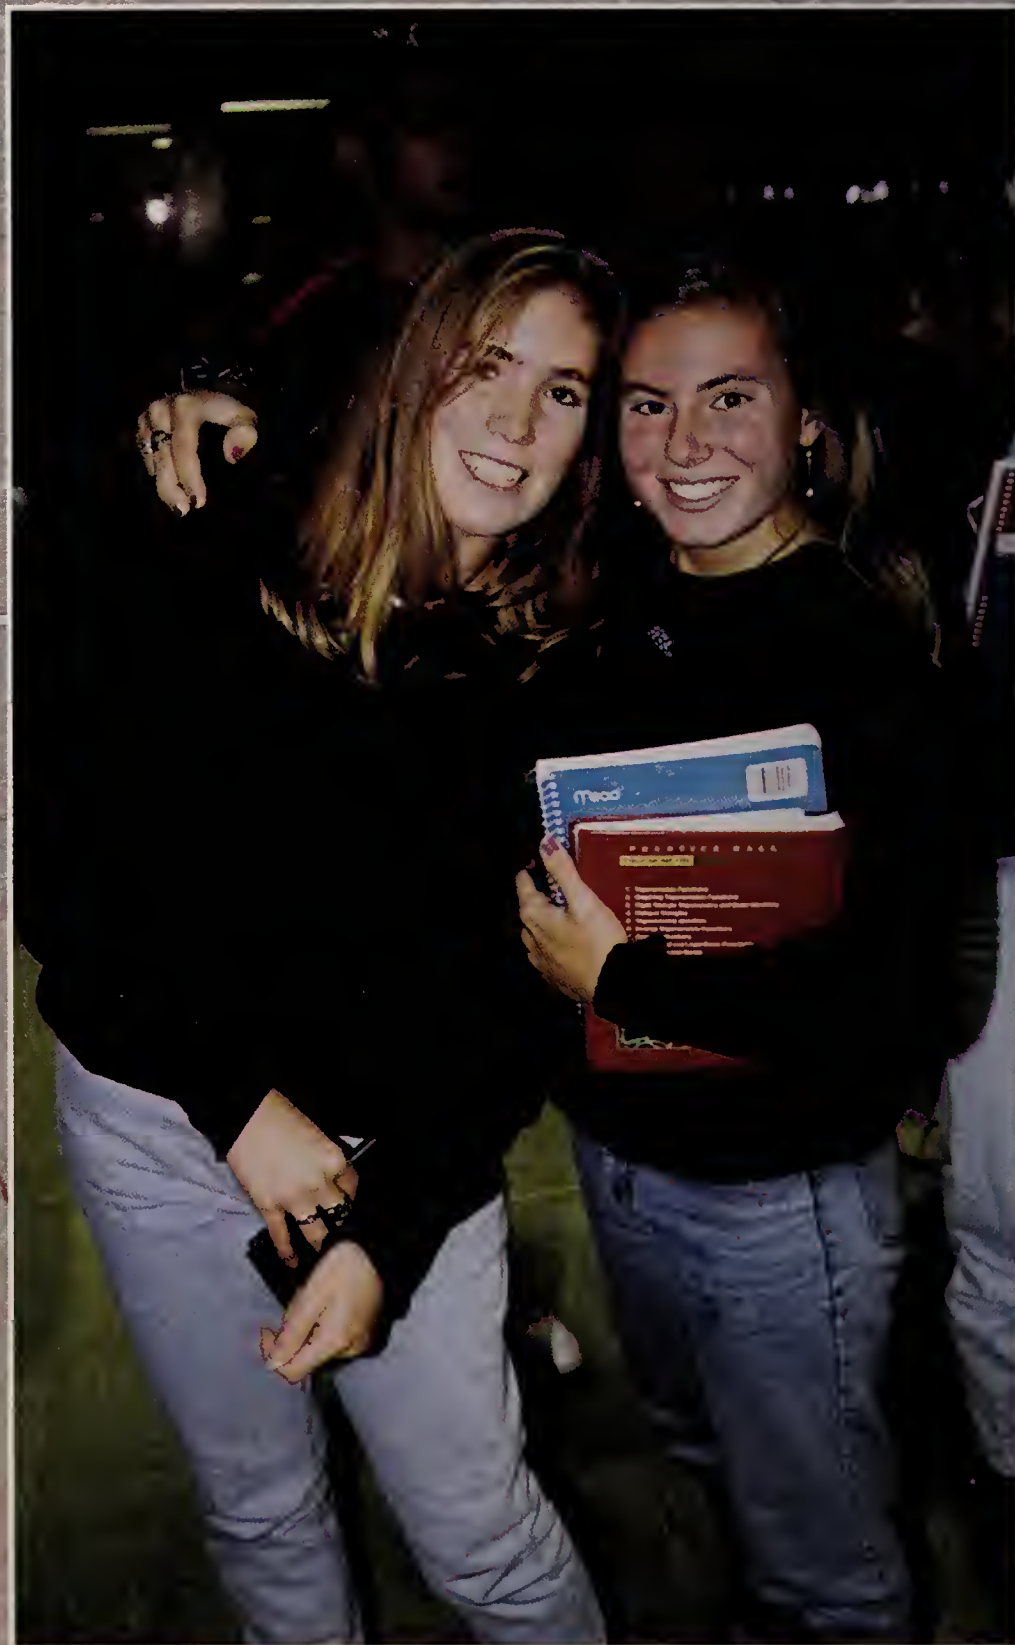

What a threesome-Dean, Lyle and Pierre.

Henry, are those really all yours?

Best of friends, Emily and Cheri, are always together.

What a gang!

Study hard, Betsy and Katie.

Guys, we only have five minutes between classes.
Eating lunch in the great outdoors.

Double trouble - who's who?

Jeff, where's your beautiful face?

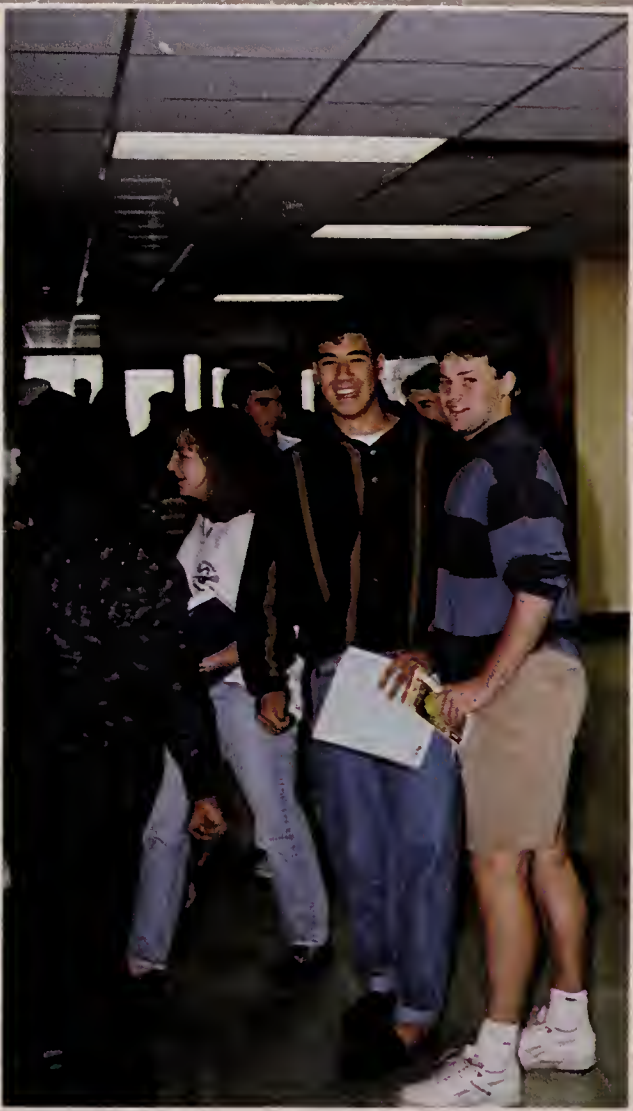

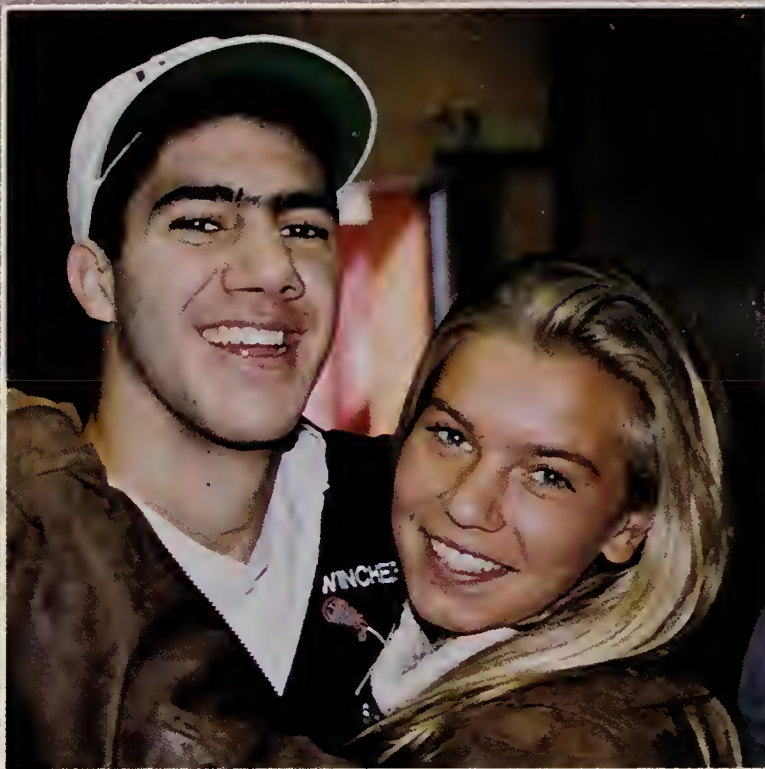

Josh, Larry would be proud!

Hats on girls!

What a cute couple, Kelly and John.

Did we surprise you, Todd and Jeff?

Did Mom pack that lunch for you, Shaun?

Math can wait, it's time to smile.

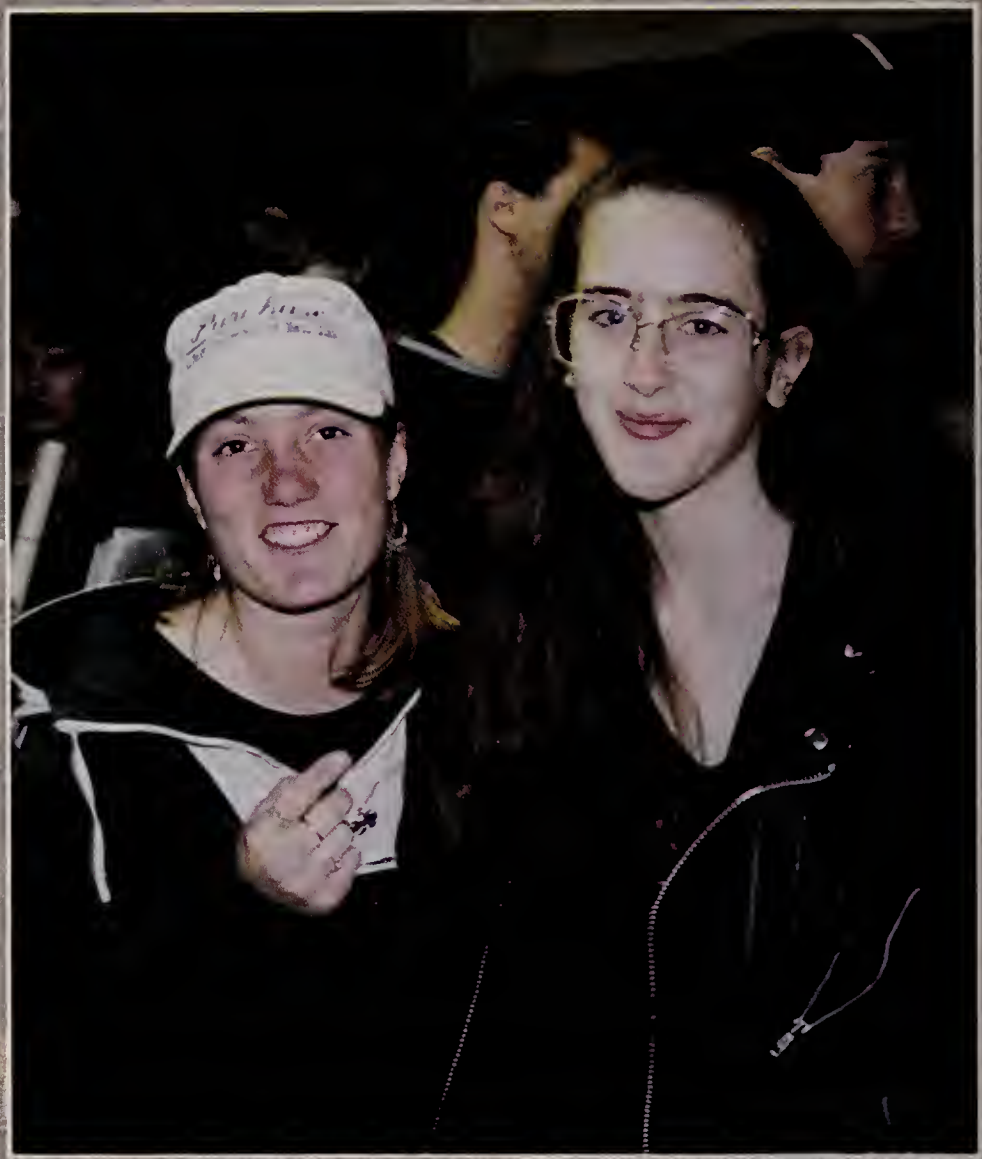

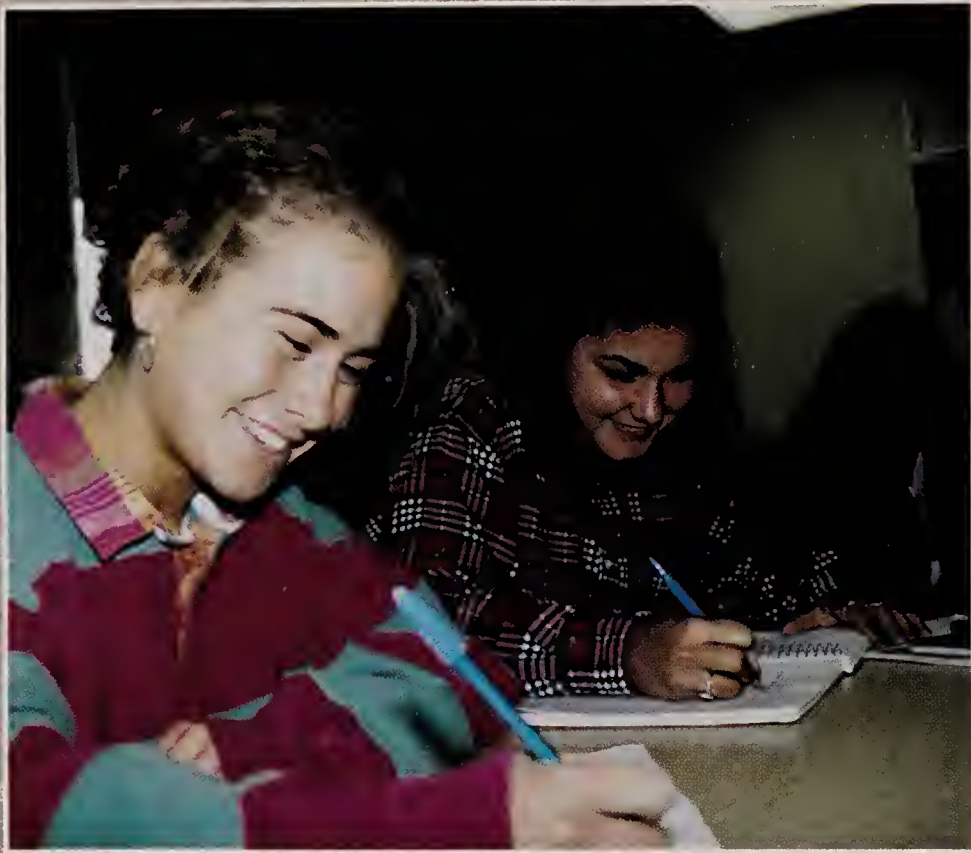

When's the exhibit coming to town?

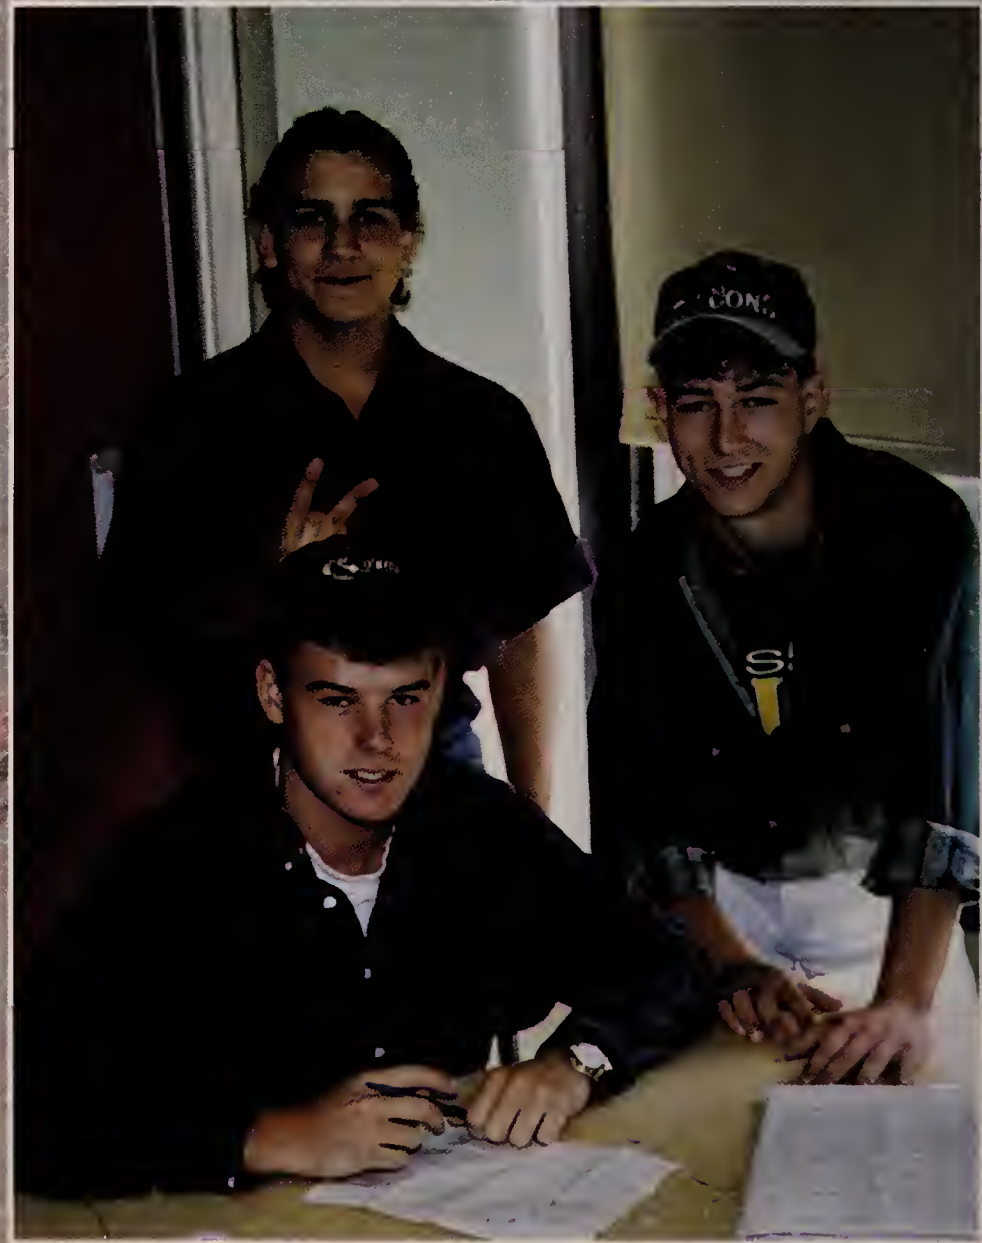

Everyone smiles when it comes to pictures.

Alyssa and Beth, are you really working?

Heather and Anne, where are your modeling agents?

Working hard, or hardly working?

Working hard, huh Tracey?

Kirk, we all know you're used to the camera, what about Mike?

Tara, give Amie a helping hand.

Quit goofing off and put your noses to the books.

Girls, you're so photogenic!

What you lookin at Palash and Angelo?

John and Anya, are you really studying?

Good friends always have something to smile about.

Teach 'em how, Lis!

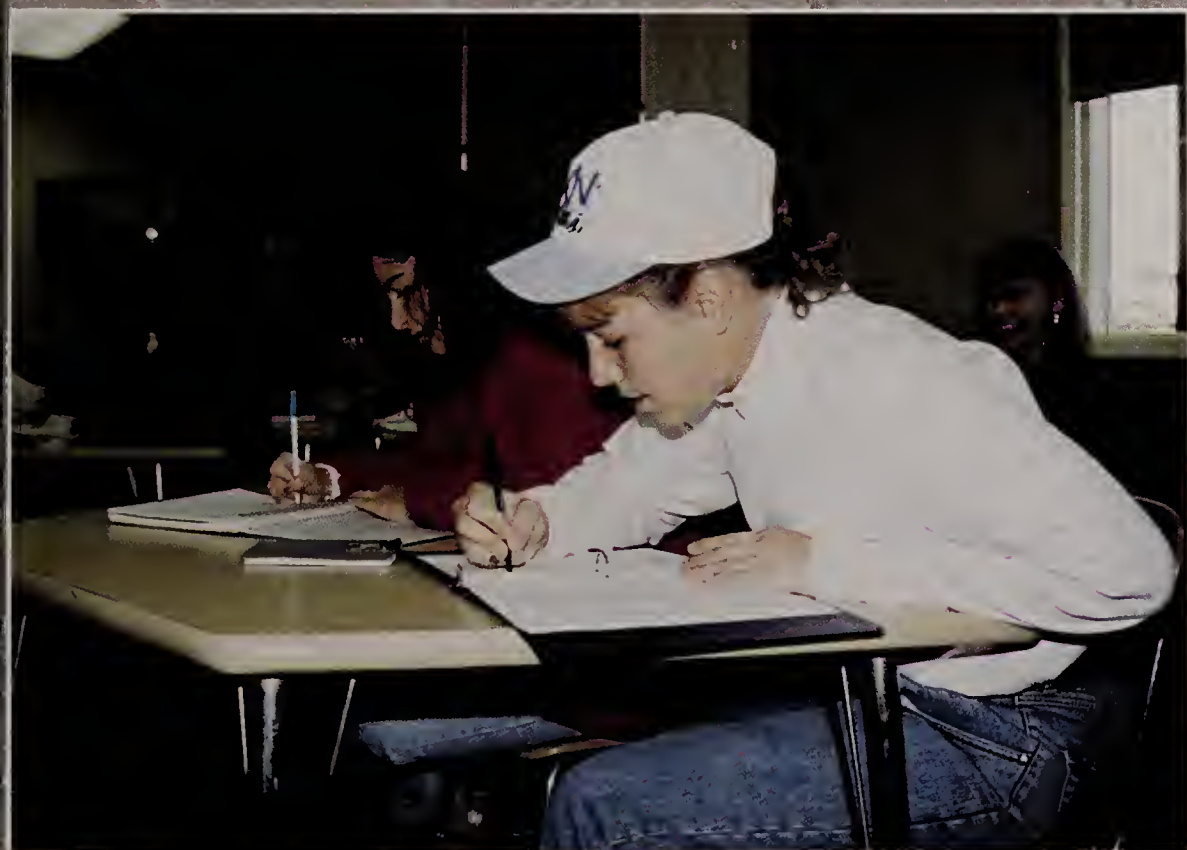

Keep up that sachem spirit, Catherine, Jen and Liz.

Betcher bite a chip, Rufus!

Don't get a writer's cramp Fern and Maria.

What a class, Walshy!

You're such an artist, Christina!

Albiani's special creation.

Shaun Oliver, the next Mr. America?

Anya, Schoenegge go to class?

Strike a pose!

Katie and Ann, stop for a quick picture.

FROSH, only three more years to go!

Lunch boxes bring back the childhood memories.

What's so funny Jen and Di?

Can I have a bite of that peanut butter sandwich?

T2 + A = Good friends.

Watch your fingers, Peter.

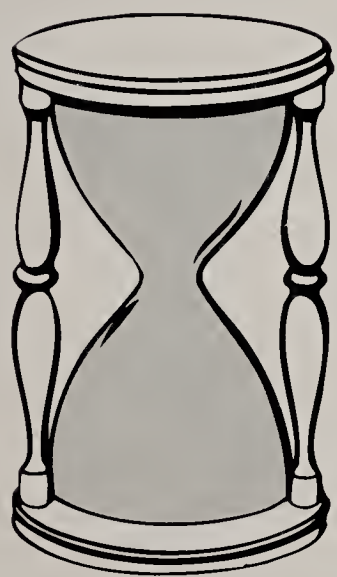

Keep up the hard work, Sonya.

Is it Friday yet?

"Oh what a night!"

The tuxedos were rented, the dresses were bought and now it was time for the class of 1993 to have their first prom. Friday passed by like a flash and before we knew it we were posing for pictures and fussing with boutonniers. Finally the rain seemed to stop. We ran to our cars, hoping not to let the rainy night spoil our fun time. Stepping out of our cars we could feel our knees wobbling as eager spectators watched us enter the beautifully decorated Town Hall. We were greeted by one of our class officers and principal, which seemed to set our mind at ease. We handed over our tickets and stepped onto the floor, mesmerized by the sparkling atmosphere. Feeling a little shy at first, we were soon beckoned onto the dance floor by the fantastic music.

Dancing and talking to our friends made the night fly by. And before we knew it we were putting on our coats and waving good-bye. We bid farewell for this was our first and last prom in the Town Hall, until next year at this same time when we will all meet again under the stars and in the tent.

Written by
Marisa Russo and Jacquie Granfield

Andrea, speak up, Peter can't hear you.

Rauseo, you get all the girls, don't you.

Good friends always have time to take a break from dancing

Brian, Eddy and Todd, can you teach us to dance?

What are Colleen Katie and Beth smiling about?

Aren't Liz and Brain cute?

Don't be anti-social guys, go in and dance!

As we filed into the Gymnasium, large crowds of students were all psyched up to cheer on our fall sports to victory. In order to pep the fans up even more, the cheerleaders led us in Victory cheer. When the Cheerleaders yelled Sachems, "what's your battle cry?" each class yelled "V-I-C-T-O-R-Y", showing their Sachem spirit. Everyone was dressed in Red and Black. A new and original idea, which seemed to be popular among the Girls Soccer team was face painting, which showed them to be determined for a victorious season. The almighty football team seemed to psych up the crowd the most (besides the PGA), dressed in their uniforms. All of the fall sports teams were victory bound which helped WHS show their enthusiasm.

A Time to Rally

Beautiful Music

Err... the bell for period E begins to ring. Laughter and strumming on instruments can be heard from the music department. As violinist Tara Juwa opens the door, sounds of flutist Jim Garas' latest musical creation on the piano can be heard. Mr. McCann tells Jim to play an "A" so that he can tune instruments. Peter Ju, Josh Johnian, and Rosanne Kariadakis argue good-naturedly over who gets to use the 2 spare violins over the noise of tuning instruments. Mr. McCann tells the orchestra to take a seat when they have been tuned and to take out the latest piece that the orchestra is practicing. Sounds of laughter can be heard from cellists Nancy Marmon, Alenka Zeman, and Francine Kariadakis, and violists, Toby White and Emily Barrett. Brett Rautenburg's rumbling timpanis carry the beat of the music. The musicians involved in orchestra/theory class thoroughly enjoy each period.

Singing and More

What do you call 50 people wearing white tuxedo shirts, red bowties, cummerbunds and screaming in Russian? No, it's not the Russian revolution, it's the wacky, wily, Winchester High School Chorus! This year, the chorus learned many songs including several special songs for the Russian exchange. But we do more in chorus than sing. We meet people and make friends from all four grades and have a lot of fun.

We put a lot of effort into every song, making sure it's perfected for our performances. Being in the chorus is a lot of hard work, but it's worth it!

By Katie and Nick Lippman

There are very few activities that require someone to get up at 6:30 in the morning. The Marching Band does, however. Band members wake up when it's still dark outside to go to practice. A special privilege for Band Members is stepping on to a field covered with frost to endure very cold weather. People seem to like it though.

The marching band's practice shows in the many performances they do. In addition to the home football games, the band marches in the Veteran's Day Parade (it almost always rains), the Memorial Day Parade, and the Enka Parade. They also marched in the Woburn Halloween Parade. The Band received a special honor by marching as the second band in the parade.

Band's not all work, though. They have breakfast together on Saturday mornings at 6:30 AM. Once in a while, the band will go on a trip.

The band is kept in control by drum majors Patty Cummings and Patti Williams, as well as Drill Instructors John Magee and Rebecca Gulati. The flag captain is Melissa Benoit. They are all kept down to Earth by the dedicated conductor, Ms. Miller. She also has many assistants: Mel Schenks, (splitting his time between bodybuilding and drummer intimidation), Bernard Boyle, Claire McNally and Pam Schenks (flags). There are also numerous parents.

Add this to about 50 students and, voila, a Marching Band!

Establishment of the Red & Black

Extra! Extra! Six times a year, the staff of the Red and Black churns out 8 pages of news, opinions, and fun. The Red and Black has won first place in the Columbia Association's ranking of school newspapers. Carrying on the tradition this year is Editor-In-Chief Francine Kariadakis, who was appointed in the spring of her junior year. She has worked closely with the Layout and Production Editor, Jeremy Gilbert. They form the core staff of the paper. Page Editors this year have been Lauren Interest (Arts), Catherine Doherty (Features), Dave Fiorentino (Boy's Sports), Tom Gosnell (Girl's Sports), Drew Minitti (Town News), and Michael Baldwin (School News). The Red and Black has not been financially supported by the school since it is considered to be a club and keeps itself in the black through the work of the Business and Distribution manager, Mark Richter.

The Red and Black, respected for its high-caliber reporting, has dealt with many controversial issues. Infamous commentaries such as "Sexism in Li'l Abner", "A Bid to Ban Final Exams", "Wayne's World Kicks the Bucket" and thought-provoking articles such as "Give the Indian the Respect He Deserves" will be remembered by their readership. The Red and Black has found itself to be the object of controversy within the pages of "The Editor's Choice", a renegade publication by anonymous students. The Red and Black's biting retort, "The Coward's Choice," turned many heads in the student body and brought criticism between the two establishments to end.

Francine has started many new features within the newspaper, including student polls and various commentaries. She has developed a page devoted entirely to student opinion. She has also established a high standard of reporting for her staff. The procedure of layout and production has been professionalized and perfected to an art by Jeremy Gilbert. They have often burned the midnight oil to bring the paper to its readers.

The entire staff has worked hard and enjoyed putting each issue together this year. May the tradition live on!

“Witness for the Prosecution”

This year's fall play was “Witness for the Prosecution”, a suspense filled-drama by Agatha Christie. Performed in the middle of November here at WHS, the story involves the plight of one man, Leonard Vole, who is accused and brought to trial for the murder of Emily French. The plot twists numerous times, involving his wife, Romaine, and Sir Wilfred, an elderly lawyer. With its beautiful sets, and wonderful direction, lead by Sharon Martin, the show was a good addition to the long list of great shows performed by the drama department of WHS. A thundering round of applause to the cast and crew of “Witness for the Prosecution.”

Isn't this a smoke free environment, Dave?

Nice wigs, guys!

Emily, look happy.

Good day, Ben.

Book of the Year Club

What you're reading now is the product of hard work by a very dedicated Yearbook Staff (NOT). We've been locked up in an ice cold cubicle of a room (but they say we're lucky to have windows) since September, so hope you enjoy your last reminders of the 92-93 school year. So the journey has finally ended here on this page. With the help and guidance of our wise-beyond their years- advisors Ms. Lanouette (Fran-Lan) and Mrs. Borsari (aka Mrs. Nasty) the meetings were conducted in a somewhat orderly fashion. Also, to make your reading experience oh so much more stimulating, over 206 hours, 180.3 layouts, and 1300 photos contributed to this non politically correct, non recycleable yearbook. Despite all of the daily happenings like Maria's all purpose moustache/uni-brow, Amy and Carrie's famous apple toss, the attack of the killer computer, and Fran-Lan sniffing glue, we came out ok. Although there are so many people to mention, space is limited and we're paying top dollar for this page. A yippie-skippie thank you is in order for our advisors, the working staff and also those who were present in spirit only and the forces unknown who carried us through this strange yet wonderful trip.

Bad in Plaid!

The last day of August was an exciting one for the WHS field hockey squad; it signified the first day of a new field hockey program. We players arrived on the freshly-resodded field very early that morning confident that we could better the performance of previous teams. Mission accomplished; we made a 400% improvement over last year's record. The primary cause of this change was the arrival of Michelle Palumbo, a young, dedicated, field hockey genius. Coach Palumbo shed a new light on the sport: she brought with her a winning attitude as well as new strategies which substantially enhanced our level of play. During the first half of the season, we demonstrated a great improvement in ball skills and teamwork, but it took time to break the ice and score goals. That time came in our game against Wakefield when we came out victorious, 4-3. We continued to EXPLODE during the remainder of the season, earning additional wins over Burlington and Stoneham as well as beating Wakefield for the second time during our last home game. We owe a lot of credit to our extremely loyal fans whose continuous spirit played an important part in the success of our season. There will never be another team like ours; for years to come, field hockey teams will remember us as the women who turned the program around. SHAKE THAT BODY '92!

The girls' varsity

soccer team entered their 1992 season determined to uphold the winning tradition of past W.H.S. teams. Despite suffering a disappointing tie at the beginning of the season, the girls bounced back to capture the Middlesex League title for the fourteen th time in fifteen years. Bolstered by a strong offensive line the Sachemettes scored over eighty goals throughout the course of the season. This coupled with a solid defense, and an equally talented midfield, led the team to their impressive 17-1-2 record. Just as impressive is the fact that during the season the Sachemette defense backed by outstanding goalkeeping yielded only eight goals. The stellar play of the girl's team earned them national recognition, at one point ranking fifth in the nation. Consistently ranked among the top teams of the region, the girls were a candidate to bring home the state title. Unfortunately their season came to sudden end with a heartbreaking 1-0 shootout loss to North Andover in the State Tournament. Despite this tragic loss, the girl's soccer team accomplished many of their goals, and proved that they were worthy of the tradition they have established. F.I.R.E.!

Girls Varsity Soccer Team

Jen Russo makes an awesome save.

These seniors have fire!

It was a season filled with success but marked by an unfulfilled dream. If the Sachems were judged on how they played throughout the entire season rather than by the consequences of their last game, they would be remembered as a team of strength, pride, character and togetherness.

Unlike past years, consistency was a big factor for the Sachems. Under the tutelage of thirty year head-coach Gene Bouley, the Sachems compiled an impressive 15-1-1 record, second best in the school's history, taking back the Middlesex League title that has been missing since 1988.

Going into the season, the hole in the Sachem team was supposedly its defense. It took the first seven games, in which the Sachems were unscored upon, to prove this statement false. Over the course of the entire season, the defense allowed only fourteen goals with nine shutouts. This can be attributed to the play of tri-captain sweeper David Hood, who anchored the defense, and goal keeper Andy Nolan, the iron horse of the back line. Junior defenders Jeff Rotondi, a two-year starter, Dave Middleton, Jamie Lanzo, and Dean McClearn all helped stifle opponents' offenses.

The Sachem offense was bolstered by the return of senior Jeff Tahnk, who had been injured the past two years with knee complications. With Tahnk in the center, netting 16 goals, and tri-captain Shaun Oliver on the right, the leader of the Middlesex League in scoring for the second consecutive year with 10 goals and 18 assists, tri-captain Peter French, netting 10 goals, and Brian Taylor, netting 4 goals, all contributed to the Sachem cause.

Going into state tournament, the Sachems were seeded #1 in the Division 2 North Sectionals. After defeating Tewksbury in a convincing 3-0 win, they ran into a brick wall with Andover in the second round, losing a heart-breaker in overtime 2-1.

Because in all sports only one team goes home smiling at the end of the season, the Sachems ended theirs in a disappointing fashion. But, with the Middlesex League title back in their hands, they have nothing to hang their heads about.

I run, therefore I am

Don't let him catch up to you, Mike.

Show us your stride, Ray.

Cross-Country was one of the many sports to do well as a whole team as well as individually this year. Unfortunately it did not show in this year's record. The team ended with a 2-7 record, the victories against Burlington and Watertown. Most of the losses were within a few points with the exception of Lexington. The greatest disappointments of the season were the losses to both Belmont and Woburn- well, maybe next year. Towards the end of the season the team was plagued with injuries, especially amongst the JV team. But the team still managed to finish the season with many great individual performances at the Northern Area, State Coaches, and EMASS meets.

Cross-Country had something new added this year- fans! The team would like to thank all of our devoted fans for their support and consistency. It would be nice to have more fans at our meets, outside of parents and devoted CC followers, however, so come see a meet.

This year will be a sad one for many, because the seniors will be moving on, never having the chance to compete in a High School Cross Country meet again. There were many more seniors this year compared to last year's two. Seniors this year included co-captains Ray Regan and Carter Browning. The other seniors on the team were Mike Baldwin, Mike Collins, Bill Doherty, Mike Kenney, and Matt "Juice-pop" Krajewski. Despite the sadness in seeing the loss of the seniors, it was a great year for everybody, with strength throughout the ranks from Freshman to Senior. Juniors of the legendary CC squad include Andy Aldrich, Matt Andrus, (captain of the girl's team) Sara Bonell, Joe Corkery, Jon Howard, Will Green, Elodie Kayulu, Catherine Krumme, Emily Kilker, Andy Ratner, Allison Sacco, and Alan Touissant. The sophomores this year consisted of Kathryn Daley, Tom "Muscles" Krajewski, Peter "Ming" Ju, Jeana Kim, Allison Lee, Steve McRae, and Brandon X Smith. We had a good turnout of freshmen too; this years frosh include Jessica Castronovo, Brian "P" Castner, Susie Corkery, Alecia Franke, Andrew "Schronk" Schrock, Tracy Holleran, and Thomas "A" Witt. Hopefully in the years to come, we'll have a better record, get faster service at Papa Gino's, be able to hang our posters in pride, and not have to hide from Maloney!

Joe Corkery

Boys Cross Country, what a handsome team.

Walk it off, Sara.

Use those leap girls.

Smile, you're almost done.

The 1992 Girls Swimming Team not only excelled in the water this year but their team unity and spirit was outstanding too! The team consisted of 36 girls ,consisting mostly of freshmen.

We all became close quite quickly when our days began at 4:30 AM. It's difficult to get up that early and jump into freezing cold water and then later fight for a shower. When you're done, you have to fly to the high school, all in time for first period.

We had a great season winning four out of six meets we had, and placing 3rd at the league meet and in the league rankings.

The four captains Tara Juwa, Patti Williams, Julie Buchanan and Heather Manahan helped keep the team together and make Coach Rich Cheney's job a little easier.

The Winchester High School Girls' Swimteam

Dive on in!

I awake blurry-eyed as my radio blares at 4:30 in the morning. Getting up I stumble into my closet and stare at the clothes I've never seen before. Slowly I trudge out to my car hoping it will start. Then, I cruise through Winchester to pick up the other people who like me are up at this ungodly hour.

We are the dedicated Winchester Swim Team. We alight every morning at Medford High School to plunge into the icy cold pool. You've probably noticed us as we stroll through the halls wearing shorts and ties. Adverse conditions do not deter us from our chosen course.

In case you haven't noticed us here's who we are. Freshmen Pat Magee, and James Whitaker, sophomore Peter Gustin, Juniors John Magee, Ben Rotolo, Mark Richter, Andy Hall and Kevin Eppig. The mighty seniors are Jon Rotolo, John Matarese, Roy MacMillan, Chris Rucker, Nick Lippman and Mark Waterbury.

We are the mighty Sachem Swimmers, and you will see us roar!
"Stroke fast and finish Hard."

Basketball in Winchester is taking on a new look. It is looking toward the future. This year the Sachems men's Varsity Basketball team has acquired a new Coaching staff. The varsity team this year is an outstanding squad. At the guard position, the Sachems have Brian Keith who is a Junior. He is a great ball handler and a great, great outside shooter. In the small forward position the Sachems possess Kirk Minahan, Peter French, and Mark Morrison. All three of these individuals are great passers and deadly shooters and are great assets to this team but, we can't forget the big men who are led by Senior Todd Sundstrom. He possess great rebounding ability that will be very important to the Sachems' season. This year's varsity team is stacked with talent and heart.

by Cordell Hall

Slam- dunking Sachems

In past years Winchester Girls Basketball has not been a dominant force in the Middlesex league. However this year's squad was a challenging opponent to many teams. The team had a good mixture of young and veteran players which added great depth to the bench. The Sachems were able to defeat opponents by playing an aggressive, fast-paced game.

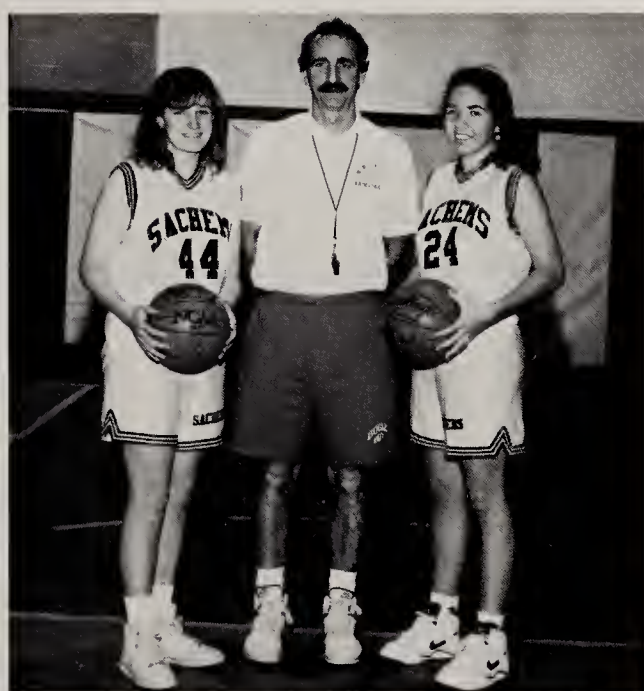

The team was led by tri-captains Jenn Russo, Elizabeth Hare, and Amanda Armstrong. Jenn Russo along with Tysun Smith, and Jen Deering were strong forwards who contributed to the team's inside scoring and rebounding. Elizabeth Hare and Amanda Armstrong were solid outside shooters who also contributed a great deal to the team points. The talented underclassmen were a strong asset to the team's overall foundation. Jenna De Simone, Anna Betcher and Esme Baker are highly skilled players who are helpful both defensively and offensively. Julie Russo, a sophomore, played the point guard and was clearly the team's Most Valuable Player. Corrine Imperatore, the team's only freshman, is an aggressive, talented player who will be the leading power in the league in future years.

Unfortunately, the team's record did not reflect their true ability. The Sachems lost a number of close games by a few points. But that did not stifle their spirit and desire. The Sachems worked hard and made great strides from previous years. This year's team was only the beginning of a series of challenging and powerful Winchester Girls Basketball teams.

On the Move

Led by senior quad-captains Deirdre Murdock, Colleen Campbell, Diana Grande, and Kathryn Wilson and Coach

girls' winter track team is

Cantillon, the Winchester High shaping up. With nine sophomores and eighteen freshmen, the team is destined for greatness in later years. These underclassmen will learn from the more experienced juniors such as Kristina Racek. Amy Oakes, Christine Arian, Katherine Hamilton and seniors Nicole Nacamuli and Betsy Kean. Although their record this year does not prove the girls' strengths, the team is very talented.

The season began with four losses, two of which were very close. The officials wrenched a victory away from Winchester during the Burlington meet when a relay team member 's (who shall be nameless, Grande) uniform didn't match. The team's tide changed against Watertown and won it's first meet against Belmont. Unfortunately, Coach Cantillon suffered an early loss, when Kathryn Wilson raced Eddie Russo and broke her arm when she hit the wall.

Diana Grande best summed it up when she said, "even though our record doesn't show it, I think we all had a successful season both as a team aaand as individuals".

Do you think Brian will make it over?

Paul, are you in pain?

The 1992-1993 Sachem

Golf

team is now into uncharted waters.

Captained by seniors Michael McGinty and Anthony Bonfilio, it finished off the regular season with a 6-3 record, finishing fourth in the Middlesex League and qualifying for the Division 2 North Shore and Greater Boston Championship Tournament. With a strong showing in all six position, the Sachems made golf history, finishing first in the Division 2 North Shore and Greater Boston Tournament and qualifying for the State Tournament for the first time ever. Lead by the number one golfer in the state, junior Dave Fiorentino, the Sachems wait until spring for their chance to do the unthinkable- bring home the State Championship.

With a little luck, character and Kirk Minihane the 1992-1993 golf team will make history again by winning the State Title and the respect the team has long been denied here at Winchester High School.

I think Sean got a hole in one.

Rebecca shows us that girls are the best.
What form!

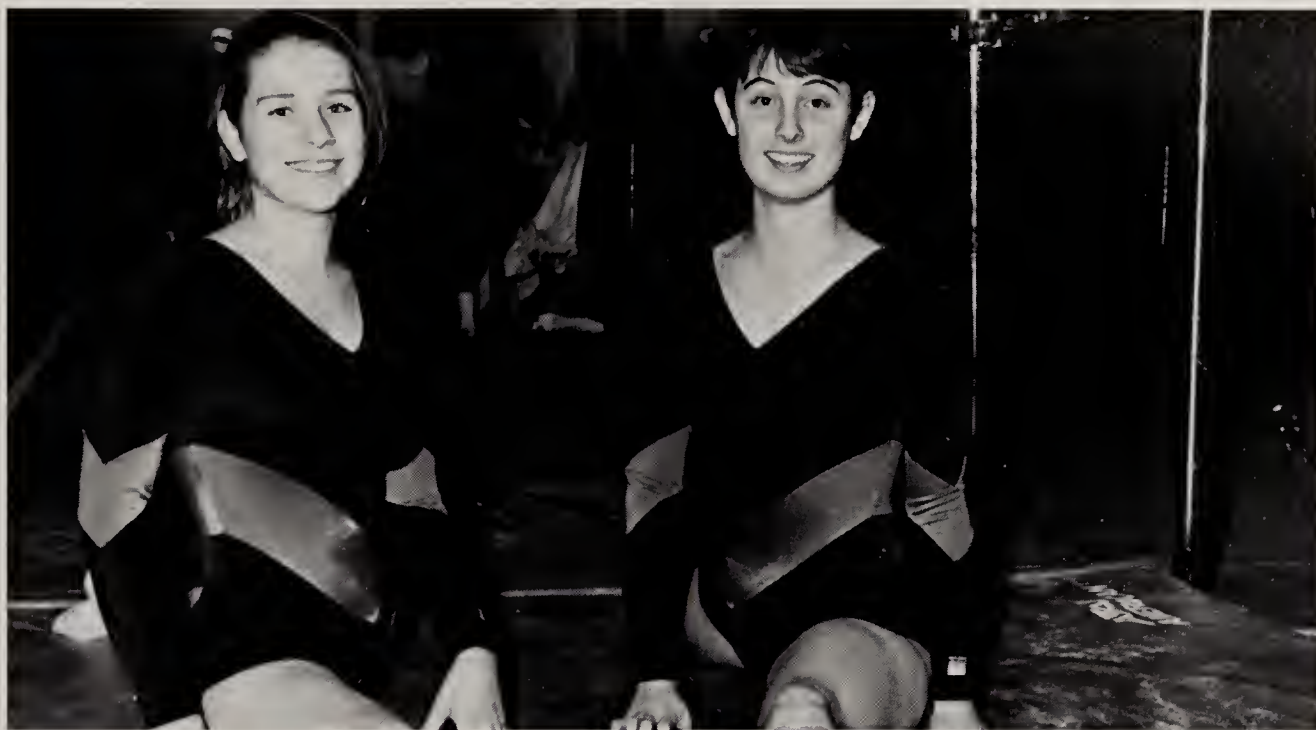

Splits, flips and tricks are among the many things the girls gymnastics team practices. Although the record doesn't prove it, the team works very hard. Lead by Coach Quine and co-captains Kim Ciano and Rachel Gallery the team scored 119 for their first meet of the year. Contributing to the team's high scoring are Seniors Jeanette Cross, Andrea Destefano and Cheri Frost, Junior Margaret Boettcher, sophomores Meghan Foley (scoring eights on three events) and Freshman Marisa McCarthy, (also scoring eights on at least three events) Christine Leavitt, Jen Clark, and Debbie Gallery.

Only six girls are allowed to compete in each event, forcing the twelve girls to push each other everyday. The four events are: bars, beam, vault and floor. The determinents in scoring these events are form, poise, execution and difficulty of the moves. The gymnasts are constantly trying to perfect the moves they have and add harder ones in hopes of staying in the lineup.

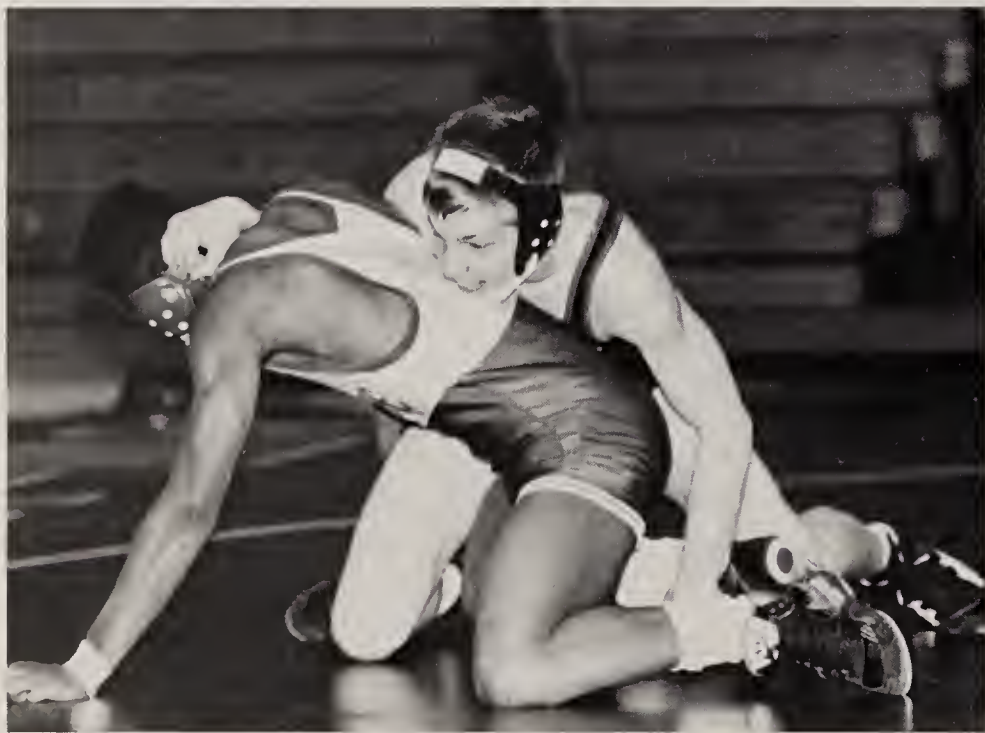

The future for the gymnastics team looks very promising with only five seniors leaving and a lot of young talent.

Flipping Out

A Time to Cheer

Most people don't realize, but the cheerleaders have a lot of work and long strenuous practices. Practice takes place several times a week and the days not spent practicing are spent cheering at games either as "Jerry's Kid's Cheerleaders", thanks to the boys soccer and football. Cheering also doesn't stop at that- sometimes 4 posters have to be made in a single week. Now don't get us wrong- the cheerleaders have a lot of fun and laughs at Friday night football dinners and at the games. On the bus to away games, one would usually hear "Oh what a night." or "The tide is high blasting.". The squad was led by veteran co-captains Lisa Holwell and Kristen Colozzi. Our senior Tara (Cold Hands) Schlener joined us for a second year. Returning juniors were Denise Slater, Susie Bankson, and Jo Theuer (Fric & Frac), Kristen Robart, Janine Difronzo, and Jacqueline Carr. The sophomores Becky (give Lisa a black eye) Scott, Shannon (it's a scorcher out) Slater, and Beth (wanna lollipop) Chute. Joining the ranks were Andrea (raccoon & Flips) Destefano, Pamela Schipani, Marta Von Rosenvinge, and Melissa (sitting bull) Lindmark. These 16 girls for the first time entered a competition. We've worked so hard night and day. Hopefully this will prove to everyone we are one awesome squad.

Hey! You're not a cheerleader!

Look at the little Sachem indian.

In a year where the

Mighty Sachem Tradition

was doubted and even ridiculed, the Winchester football teams stood at their best and made fans out of skeptics.

Led by Captains Joan Rauseo and the soft spoken Mike Szczepanski, the Sachems put together an impressive season. Some others who made the highlight reel are: Scott Imperatore, Brian Lindmark, Bobby Donlon, Eddie Russo and Roy MacMillan.

The JV team also had an excellent season. This squad's talent will make a strong showing on next year's varsity team.

The freshman football squad scored big wins and set a strong tone for their sophomore year, as this team is brimming with talent.

Time to Play Ball !

"And there's the pitch ... STRIKE!!" The varsity softball team sure did pitch a lot of those. With Andrea DeStefano behind the plate and Jen Russo and Julie Russo in the field, how could they lose? Karen Koenig, too, put out all her energy to make playing everything but boring.

Even though there were a few mistakes and the heat was unbearable, all the girls put forth best effort a team could exert. Although it wasn't their top season, they had a winning combination of teamwork and cooperation resulting in a victory, each in her own way.

What are you staring at Brian?

The 1992 season held great hopes for the Sachem baseball team. Talk of a North Sectional championship was brewing even before opening day. The team had an abundance of returning starters including Jeremy Teahan, Jason Cappadano, Ed Russo, Josh Carroll, Adam Piandes, Scott Imperatore, and Mark Donellan.

The season began with two wins over an overmatched Lowell team. As the season continued to progress the Sachems continued to win. By the end of the regular season, a 16-4 record was in the books and the Sachems seemed poised to make a run at the sectional title. Asked to comment on his teams success, right-fielder Josh Carroll commented, "We had the best record in the league, so we won the league." With their first tournament game against a feisty Belmont team, which the team was 1-1 during the year. A controversial decision to start senior E.J. Grant proved costly as did a multitude of mental mistakes as Belmont prevailed 5-3. Although it was a great season, the dreams and fantasies were never realized. Maybe if E.J. had intestinal fortitude, the school would have celebrated the long awaited title.

However, ball-fans don't despair. With more starters returning this year and three three-year varsity players (Carroll, Russo, Imperatore) returning the Sachems seem to be set for another exciting season.

Tom Gosnell

Its outta here!!!

Coach overlooks his players.

"This is the Most Talented Team I have ever coached," proclaimed five year task master Sean O'Loughlin. Indeed it was a talented group. They finished the regular season with an unblemished 13-0 record and another Middlesex League title. However, the Sachems fell short of their state championship dreams with a loss to Andover. For WHS tennis, 1992 was a year to remember and to forget.

This talented group, in which all seven starters received all star recognition in the Middlesex League, was led by Junior number one singles player, Matt Fuller. Fuller turned in a stellar season in which he captured the State Individual Championship in convincing fashion and was named to the Boston Globe and Boston Herald All-Scholastic Teams. Senior Captain Steve Lucero played most of the year in the number two singles position while David Fiorentino found a home at number three singles. The first doubles tandem of Captain Peter French and Tony Cella was among the League's best while the spirited second doubles duo of Tim Malcolm and Cliff Swap went undefeated.

Every successful team has a steady and cool head behind it. For the Sachems, this head lay on the shoulders of Coach Sean O'Loughlin. O'Loughlin kept the team together with his well-developed challenge match system and strange, but undoubtedly true, stories from his adventuresome past. "They were a real treat," Peter French pointed out while managing to keep a straight face.

O'Loughlin ran hard practices throughout the year in order to keep up with Girls' Coach Mary Whelan and her grueling sessions of all-out training. "From day one, Coach O'Loughlin ran us long and sometimes hard and often more than the track team," pointed out Tim Malcolm.

Next year the Sachems will not settle for the Middlesex League Championship, they will pursue a State Championship.

David Fiorentino

Girls' Tennis

It seems as though after the tennis season is finished, everyone is left with good memories. Every year the season opens with a little competition. It's a mad rush as everyone interested in playing tennis challenges one another to secure a sound spot on the ladder, thus a spot on the team. After the ladder was set, spectators could view Carrie Tozza, Leanne Intravaia and Catherine Doherty each playing superbly at their respective single slots. Heather Hughes and Shauna Colozzi were a fierce match for any opponent, while the underclass team of Kelly Smith and Natalie Ciulla continued to dominate their court. Besides the excellent players, what seemed to make the tennis team so unique was the sense of friendship that seemed to surround it. Unlike the other sports, the J.V. and Varsity teams aren't separated, so there's no real division within the team, for they practice and play together. All the girls on the team get along and the tennis is more fun than hard work. Although at times it could seem that the tennis practices are more apathetic, the girls continue to dominate the Middlesex League, by continuously boasting winning records. Although tennis is often perceived as a completely individual sport, this group of girls supports a teamful of excellent individuals.

"Death before Dishonor," was the theme of Spring Track '92, a rough season for all those participants who struggled to support their team. However the team finished unfortunately with a 2-7 record, unlike the better record for the year before. Despite that the team stuck together and never gave up hope. Unfortunately, the team was spread a bit too thin over all the events, and didn't have enough of the best in every event. Field events were especially hard to cover, because a great deal of the strength was in last year's seniors who moved on to college life. Both Coach Tom Kline and Coach Lorin Maloney had positive outlooks throughout the season and impressed upon everyone the need to work. They are hoping for more success in the seasons to come but agree that winning isn't everything, effort is. After the season ended a few select runners faired well in the two-day decathlon, along with other state meets, along with the Freshman-Sophomore meet where a great deal of potential for the future was revealed in both running and field events. Hopefully in the years to come wonderful stories can be written about the abundant success of the Spring Track team in Winchester, who finally defeated the ever strong Reading Rockets.

Sachem Defense

In John Pirani's fourth year of coaching, he has been handed a great deal of dedication and talent on the Boys' Varsity Lacrosse Team. This year's team has great depth and is experienced playing at the challenging varsity level. Last year's troubled season has added a great motivational drive to this year's squad.

Returning starter, and senior tri-captain Brian Bernazzani leads the team's attack. A well rounded player, Brian is capable of doing just about anything on the field, and definitely has a great year ahead of him. Senior attackman Peter Harris is hoping for a great season with his passing and shooting abilities, and he is looking toward a great spring. Senior Jon Arsenault, a converted mid-fielder, adds to the attack's line of threat.

Jon is a threat from any spot on the field and will knock anybody over to get the ball. Junior Alex Lacroix is also looking toward the spring. With his left hand abilities, he hopes to earn a spot on the starting line.

The midfield for the upcoming season is a true scoring force. With great ability and an abundance of speed and power, the Sachem midfield is feared throughout the league. Third year started and senior tri-captain Mike Szczepanski leads the midfield. His face-off ability wins possession of the ball and his shooting ability helps us win games. Mike is a great all around player. Senior Bob Donlon returns this year after an excellent junior year. Bob hopes to use his blazing speed and quickness to dodge opposing defenders. Senior John Rauseo, coming off a spectacular rookie season has and make things happen in the defensive end of the field. Senior Jeff Edmunds, a heavy hitter, is looking to use his talents to exploit every attackman he faces. Senior Mike Collins, a returning starter, the red headed crazyman, looks to punish everyone with the ball. Anchor of the defense, the goalie, Bill Betcher, hopes to stuff every player in the league.

Gee, I didn't know that the lacrosse team had only three players!

made a name for himself as a thunderous hitter and a tough defensive player. Senior Mike Johansen will use his passing talents to become an assist leader this spring.

No game can be won without a great defense. The Sachem defense is known to be one of the toughest in the league. Returning starter and senior tri-captain Paul Albiani will attempt to use his speed to his advantage Betcher's rigorous off-season training adds to Billy's aura.

Overall, the Sachem Boys' Lacrosse Team is going to be great and we hope you will attend our games.

- Paul Albiani

Time to Make it a Team!

Last year was the beginning of something that should have happened a long time ago. Winchester High School actually gave the opportunity for girls to play lacrosse. Although it was only considered a club at the time, school advisors are considering starting it as a sport. With the coaching of Kim Donlon and Charene "Zip" Goodman the team managed to win one of its three games. This was a great start for the team, considering that before the season started, not even half the team knew the different positions. Because of all the interest the girls showed for the sport, the season was successful. With the support from the rest of the school, the girls lacrosse team will soon have more wins. Maybe this year they won't have to supply their own shirts, nets, sticks, ball, referees, and powder (to draw the goalie's circle).

A Commitment to Perseverance

The Winchester High School '92-'93 Hockey Team deserves an abundance of credit. It's easy to play for a team that constantly wins. It's easy to be enthusiastic when you're winning. But when you're constantly losing it's tough to keep it up. It takes a special group of guys, to stay motivated after taking pounding after pounding, night after night. Much of the Sachems upbeat attitude can be directed to Coach Newhall's "No regret" approach. All he asks is that you give it 110% every time you step on the ice. The Sachems lace up their skates, ready to give it all they got, if they come up short, they'll strive and work hard and come out the next night ready to play.

The Sachems are in one of their rebuilding years with a great influx of freshmen and sophomores. These young guys give the squad a shot of adrenaline, that keeps the team going. These young guys will be looking to the senior leadership of Anthony Bonfilio. Bonfilio has been on the team since his freshman year and will be looked to for his leadership and scoring touch. Senior Andy Nolan hopes to instill a scheme of blocking shots and hitting the ice every chance they get. Also, seniors Dave Duffy and Brian LaPointe will be looked to for their experience. The Three Amigos are now down to two as Bob Marrone was forced into retirement due to a bad nasal cold. Paul McGowen and Sparky Brooks are ready to make an impact after a year of getting their feet wet. Brooks promises to take the body more often this year. One never knows what kind of effect freshmen will have on this year's club. The Sachems were dealt an early blow as seniors Brian Bernazanni, John Arsenault, and the Hood Twins opted to pursue other interests, namely the Winchester High School Chess Team.

The strength of the Sachems may lie in their defense. With the likes of Matt Breuer, Joe Vaccari, and Jamie Lanzo leading the charge, the shoes of Len Nolan will be filled admirably. After playing sparingly last season, junior Andy Brown is the key to Sachem victories. If Brownie's on his game he may be the stalemate that keys Winchester wins.

The Sachems take the ice every night, with a simple game plan, "Give it all you got! And Have No Regrets!!!" If you do that and lose, so be it. They'll give it their all. Win, lose, or draw the Sachems deserve all the credit in the world.

Our School Store

The Sachem Trading Post was run this year by Mr. Donald Kozak and worked during lunch by student volunteers. Even though it was only open during lunch, that was enough. Compared to last year, the profits have almost tripled due to the sale of candy. (1993 was the first year this has been allowed.) Also on sale were sweatshirts, sweatpants, t-shirts, boxer shorts, golf umbrellas, and school supplies. Although these weren't favorites among the students, the parents couldn't get enough of them. When walking into the store, you were always greeted by a smiling face and a person who was willing to help you in any way possible. Maybe next year we will be able to convince Mr. Kozak to open the store after school, but only if he gets enough volunteers. Hopefully next year will be as profitable as this year!

A HOWLIN' GOOD TIME!

The Foreign Language Halloween Party, held on October 26, drew about one hundred and fifty to its dark, spooky splendor. As per tradition, a DJ was hired to entertain us like no other club party has done before. They started games like balloon stamping, donut-eating and a costume contest that was judged by our very own foreign language teachers, who were dressed as good luck trolls. There was also a crowded game of musical chairs (which turned into chair-stealing) and the ever-popular "Electric Slide" was played. A huge range of creative talent and outfits, from clowns and witches to French maids, condoms, and beer cans, were shown off by the students. Looking around, it was obvious that everyone enjoyed the goodies that were brought by their friends and had a spectacular time.

Democracy in Progress

Once a month on Wednesday nights it's possible to find a group of students seated in the foreign language area. These are the kids that represent the students at Winchester High School: it's the Student Union. These students express their feelings and ideas about the activities, social events, and politics of the school. For the second year, the student union officers have been whittled down to a president and vice-president Sean Vernaglia and Emily d'Entremont. The union has a new teacher advisor as well, Ms Charron, who has contributed many helpful ideas. The Union has revised the constitution by creating more organizations among the originals. New rules have been set up such as a tougher demerit system and the need for each class to sponsor a fundraiser each month. These new changes have made the Student Union a more important organization. The union is finally becoming an organization with something important to say.

From Russia, with Love

For most of the students and teachers from school #213 in St. Petersburg, Russia, it was their first trip to the United States. During these two weeks the excited tenth- and eleventh- grade students stayed with two different Winchester High School families and enjoyed a whirlwind tour around Winchester including the Rotary Club and trips to the library and Selectmen's Meeting. They also visited Lexington and Boston, where they saw the Freedom Trail, The Aquarium, and the Museum of Fine Arts. The students who were chosen to be part of the exchange due to their academic talent, also taught classes at Winchester High School about the history, culture, and government of their country. They also led discussions about the youth of St. Petersburg, comparing and contrasting them to the youth of America.

Many friendships were made during their short two-week period, bonds that will last a lifetime. When they left Winchester, members from both of each students' families came to see them off, despite the early time, and the cold weather. There wasn't a dry eye on either the Russian or American side.

The Winchester students will see their Russian brothers and sisters again when they travel to Russia during February vacation. These 35 students and teachers will have the experience of a lifetime, touring and visiting sites in Russia and staying with their Russian friends as a part of the exchange for Humanities students and the Music Department.

Students Against Drunk Driving

The Students Against Drunk Driving chapter in Winchester is one of our more successful clubs, in terms of people involved. There are over twenty five official members who work hard and diligently to slow the numbers of people and especially teenagers, who drive under the influence of alcohol. At meetings, officers and members alike hold discussions, watch movies, and try to think of ways to prevent drunk driving. One is the designated driver system, where one person is chosen to stay "dry" for the night, and drive his/her friends home. Another is the "Students and Parents Contract for Life" in which both parties promise to avoid drugs and alcohol, and if they are ever under the influence of either, then they agree to be driven home by another person. One of their biggest events is on a certain day SADD volunteers put a wrecked car out on the High School lawn, and hammer a stake in the ground every seven minutes, which represents how often someone gets killed in a car accident where drinking was involved. SADD does its part to try to keep those statistics separate from Winchester High.

WHS Math Team

The math team consists of a fine group of students who are not only interested in math but who are willing to represent Winchester High School in local and state math meets. A typical math meet consists of a competition between teams from several schools, each team trying to outscore the other by solving various types of problems ranging from trigonometry, to algebra, to calculus! Unlike other math teams from other schools, Winchester's math squad has never had any formal math team "practices" as is customary with teams from other schools. Nonetheless, Winchester's math team has fared well in their competitions, and hopes to do even better in the coming years. We wish the best of luck, and utmost success to Mr. Kelly and his math team!

Gender Issues

Gender Issues is one of the newest groups in the high school. It was formed in November by participants in the Lighthouse Conference for High School Girls at Radcliffe in April of 1992 with the help of Social Studies teacher Marge Harvey. The goal of the group was to create an open dialogue between male and female high school students on issues such as gender dynamics in the classroom, feminism, the role of men/women in today's society, and the role of men/women in life at Winchester High. It is an open group in which each meeting is run by a different member and focuses on a topic of his or her choice. Gender Issues meets once every three weeks on Thursday nights and its membership includes approximately thirty students. It is a great way both to learn about the views of others concerning gender issues and to voice one's own views.

Multicultural Issues

Contrary to popular belief, MCI is not a secret affiliate of the phone company, and it also is not an exclusive cult reserved for a chosen few. It is a group of concerned students and faculty who share a common idea, that being building unity through diversity. Perhaps the most attention we received was at Focus Day '92. (Hey Connie and Ed, did you like the music?) Because of workshops run with the help of the Peer Counselors, and awesome guest speakers, awareness was raised about the environment in which we live. Hopefully many people left with the realization that "Hey Toto we're not in Kansas anymore." The issues were tough, but we handled them directly with no sugar coating. Since the commotion died down, there are new voices being heard here at Winchester High. Thanks to the guidance (and groovy meetings) from Lou Alvarez, Sandy Thompson, and Kay Nash, we have grown from bunnies frolicking in the mist to strong individuals emanating warm fuzzy feelings all 'round.

A Better Chance

A Better Chance is a national academic talent search program. The primary goal of ABC is to find academically inclined minority students and help place them in private or top public secondary schools. As ABC is a non-profit organization, it depends mostly on contributions from society at large.

Winchester, which is a Public School Program (PSP), includes students from Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, and Michigan. The eight students in the ABC are broken down into three classes: two juniors, Archeem Mosley and Binh Nguyen; three sophomores, Cordell Hall, Ronald Hall, and Jamarll Johnson and three freshmen, Damian Allen, Christopher Maddox, and Joey Bonano.

The house also consists of three adults Lauralyn Williams and George Daly, the Resident Directors, and Jean-Dominique Herve' Anuh, the live-in tutor.

Environmentally Aware

Reaction is made up of a bunch of cool kids set out to rescue the world from being overcome with environmental and social disasters. Under the superb leadership of Anya Schoenegge and Kristina Racek, many projects have been undertaken and completed successfully. We have had activities such as the Walk for Walden Woods, volunteering at shelters, planting trees, and decorating spoons to donate to Project Bread's X-mas sale. We are characterized by chaotic but very quick meetings, and often times find ourselves roughing it outside in the negative temperatures for a blanket/winter clothes drive or a clean-up excursion in the depths of winter. All members thoroughly enjoy this, of course, since we're all tree huggers and can appreciate the beauty of a cold day. Become crunchy, join the club.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is an organization of select junior and senior students who perform community services throughout the year. These students were chosen among numerous candidates due to their well rounded character. They have achieved a particular grade point average in school, participated in significant cocurricular activities including clubs, teams, musical groups etc., held leadership positions and have had work experience and have served the community in some way.

The school has recognized the value of their contributions. Ms. Alvarez has donated a significant amount of time in organizing the society as well. Each individual has been brought together to form the National Honor Society and work as a whole to better his or her surroundings. Members are required to participate in various activities. The past year, the NHS has completed volunteer jobs such as tutoring fellow classmates, helping out at the Red Cross Blood Drive, the Walkathon for the March of Dimes, the telethon for the American Heart Association, the Geography Bee, doing typing for the Main Office, setting up and cleaning for the Enka Association, ushering school events and guiding the Freshmen on orientation day. The National Honor Society has been successful in maintaining a lasting tradition of providing services to the town of Winchester.

Roxbury Tutoring

At 3:30 every Monday afternoon, a bus leaves from WHS that ends up in Roxbury. On the bus there are twenty to thirty Winchester High School students ready to tutor kids from all over Roxbury. This program was started years ago to help underprivileged children who live in Roxbury to learn more. Although sometimes the kids don't want to do anything, all that has to be done is a call to "Ms. Swane" and they quickly begin to work. Ms. Swane is a teacher in Roxbury and runs the program during the afternoons. The program is run Monday thru Friday and helps children who go to school in Roxbury. Ms. Swane runs the program very strictly and doesn't take anything from anyone. Doug Berhart and Martha Lewis also help lead the program when dealing with the Winchester students. Roxbury Tutoring is a wonderful program that helps many children and should be kept going strong for many years to come.

Ode To The Senior Class

It's been four long years,
making friendships that will last,
It's been four long years,
that's now a part of the past.
We've been through good times and bad,
but together we stood,
we knew we'd make it through,
our friends told us we could.
As the time has gone by,
we've all become one,
and though our school days are over,
our friendships aren't done.
We'll look back on these days,
with laughter and tears,
we'll remember these people,
we've known through the years.
We've set goals in our paths,
to rise above the rest,
and if we didn't always reach them,
we knew we did our best.
We've met all kinds of people,
who have all become friends,
and we'll never really have to say good-bye,
for true friendship never ends.
When you're having so much fun,
time really flies,
and after the past four years,
we're not ready for good-byes.
As this poem comes to a close,
we can hear that school bell,
and as we move on in life,
we bid our farewell.
Now that it's over,
we'll go our separate ways,
and if there's a certain time to hold on to,
these are the days.

The Heirs Apparent

Junior year is the most demanding year of High School. Juniors take PSATs, SATs, Achievements, and are expected to do well in their classes as well. It's the year to make the grades and to establish your class rank. It's a year to begin the search for the perfect college or university. In other words, junior year does not offer a lot of free time to relax or to spend time with your friends.

Yet, there are some benefits to junior year. For most of us, it means open campus, finally. During study halls, juniors with a C+ average may leave the school to go home to do homework, to go out for breakfast, to sleep late on mornings when your schedule permits it, to leave school early or to go out for lunch.

Most importantly, junior year is the year before senior year. It involves raising some major funds for the senior prom under the tent on the Football field. Although junior year is challenging and distressing, it has its perks.

Time for Freedom

Most juniors get their licenses this year, as long as they pass their driving tests. A license gives juniors more freedom and independence. If you need to run out and get a book at school or run some errands, you no longer need to depend on your parents to drive you. Also, this brings a change in weekends for juniors. Juniors have transportation to go to the movies, to go to parties, or to just cruise the streets of rockin' Winchester.

The Forgotten Ones

Usually the sophomore class is the forgotten one. All other classes have many different priorities. Seniors are worried about college, Juniors with SAT's and the freshmen being able to just "fit in". Don't rush it, though, class of '95 look what's to come: SATs, and college stress. There's no turning back. Let's be the forgotten ones. As long as we enjoy our Sophomore year.

Stuck Between Two Classes

"It was the best of times. It was the worst of times." But somehow they all pulled through. The year went by so quickly. It's hard to believe that they are almost half way through with High school. Together they completed what would be one of the hardest years of their lives, being stuck between two classes. Wondering what to make of their lives will come in the years to follow.

It's Just the Beginning!

This was the beginning of a long four years for the class of '96. Getting accustomed to the new surroundings can be hard sometimes but this class sure did have its act together. Not only did they have to get situated to the ultimate rotating schedule, but they put up with the other classmen at the same time. Now that they think the hardest year of their life is over, wait until they get to be a sophomore!

A New Environment

The first few weeks at WHS are very confusing for freshmen and new students. The signs by the entrance of every department are all that make finding classes possible in the seemingly identical hallways. The rotating schedule requires students to think about what class they have next, as opposed to McCall's schedule - the same period in the same order everyday.

Fortunately, by the middle of the first quarter, nearly everyone has figured out where to go when, and has started appreciating the more interesting and different school environment.

A Time for Innes

"Stop snapping your gum!" Mrs. Innes screams in her Revere accent. What a remarkable teacher she is. To all of her students she's more than just a teacher, she's also a friend. We can count on Mrs. Innes both in and out of the classroom. She combines her tremendous teaching ability with her great sense of humor, making students eager to learn. When we go into her class we not only look forward to learning Italian but many other useful facts. (Joe Neanderthal, Fight or Flight?)

Mrs. Innes, the bottom line is, thanks for four great years, we'll never forget you. We love you - and we're not kidding, "at all at all!"

A New Addition

There's been a new addition to the Science department this year. It's definitely for the better. Finally, there is a fresh new approach to teaching in the Physics Department. Ms. Angus is a new teacher who comes to Winchester having been trained in physics at Harvard University. Most students were dreading physics until they met Lis Angus. Her innovative techniques of teaching definitely are what motivate her students to try and do well.

Perhaps Ms. Angus' close relationship with her students is looked down upon by some in the administration, but we respect her probably more than some teachers because she has equal respect for us.

Jen Russo should be recognized for her strong leadership and dedication. She has been our all-time class president for the last four years. Jen has helped to make the Class of '93 fun and exciting. She is looked up to as our role model and whenever there's a problem Jen is there to listen and take action. Her leadership not only takes place in school but in her sports outside of school. She is captain of the basketball team, soccer team, and softball team. Her strong willingness to support the teams has paid off in victory. Jen is a big part of our class and will always be remembered for her devoted efforts and time.

Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold.
Her early leaf's a flower;
But only so an hour.
Then leaf subsides to leaf.
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down to day.
Nothing gold can stay.

Kahlin Clark

Good Bye WHS. It's been nice knowing ya. Just remember, "Why drink and drive when you can smoke and fly!" "SHPARK!" And good bye to all the cool kids who got me through it. To CD, the greedy ducks live on. To RM, you are a future alci. To BR, we should have gone to World's. To AW, there are other girls. To CB, Ginn was great. The first time is always the best. To CR, remember that sober day. To Pyro, remember the church. To TP, a pleasure doing business with you. To TW great parties, I wish I could remember them. And last of all to SM, we should have gone out sometime. You're cool!

I never knew Matt Tavares until Junior year. Believe me it was my loss. Matt is the type of kid that makes you smile when you see him walking down the hall. For those of you that don't know Matt, you can recognize him by the leather rope around his neck that has a dangling shark's tooth, or if you prefer an easier way, look in the art room. Trust me, you'll be amazed!! Matt, has the most incredible artistic ability of anyone I've ever met. Lucky for me I got to sit next to him last year in art. Matt would draw the most realistic pictures and it would only take him a second. I'm not the only one who has recognized his ability for he won a very selective art award last year. Reebok sponsored a human rights contest where they chose a picture to represent the theme. Matt's drawing was selected out of numerous others and he won $2000.00, not bad pocket change. Matt's abilities don't end with art. He is a terrific student as well. It seemed like he always got the grade that I wanted. He even made it through honors chemistry with Mr. Marks. To sum up Matt Tavares: he is an incredible guy, with unique qualities that aren't always easy to find in someone. With the talents that Matt possesses he is someone with incredible potential that deserves our envy.

Forever...Ever since summer sighed its last breath of air, the beginning of us has begun. For every memory attached behind its related phrase or pastime. Forever means to me how long these memories will last. Our friendships that have since developed; our past relationships and our unerasable mistakes are mere imperfect dreams that never found their way to the morning when they were all forgotten - but that's not us. In our minds we created certain dreams, and in some aspect or another, we found their portrayal in each of our friends. These unforgettable marks on my heart remind me each day of what friends were there with me, and the ways in which we looked out for one another. They are, in reality, what makes me take time out each day to remember my dreams and why they are important to me, today... and forever. JGP

TWINS

Looking at the class of 1993 at Winchester High, one might say it's perfect for a Doublemint commercial. With the mirror images of David and Eric Hood and Justin and Jonathan Simeone it's easy to get confused at first glance, but these boys have made such an impact on the class of '93 that there is no mistaking who is who. David and Eric helped lead the soccer team to the Middlesex League title as well as being part of the Hockey team. Justin has been an instrumental part of both the football and track teams. His brother Jonathan, has been an inspiration to us all. He has shown us that no matter how bad things get or how imporssible they seem, you can overcome them. When we all look back at our High School yearbook we'll remember the twins as not only confusing to tell apart, but as great people we'll never forget.

AAh it's about time to sit back and relax. After 3 years of hard work trying to learn the language, I finally made it. Special thanx to all the teachers who made it possible for me. I never thought I would be able to speak and understand the language as I do today. Thanx to Mrs. R who loves everything about me. Mrs. C., Mr. J., Mrs. S., Mr. K., Mr. M., and everybody else in the guidance department. Mr. Conway, please don't retire! Hang in there! Thanx to Dr. R. for taking me to the MIAA. Thanx to Mr. Kline and all the other teachers out there whom I didn't name. Thank you very much, love ya all. The most important thing of all, thanx to my parents who have helped me throughout my H.S. career. Good luck to my lovely sisters Nadine, Elodie, Sandra and Natasha and, of course, my brother Patrick. See you in the NBA. Andrew, I don't know about you. Special friends - the ABC kids. Archeem, the dream man, C, try not to talk too much. B, keep on plain Ping Pong. J, you're not M. Jordan, R, try not to get too many hugs from freshmen. D. pull up your pants. The same for you Joe, and keep your mouth shut. Don't be like C. R, don't run 200m too fast. O, keep on dreaming about girls. K, stay off those you know whats. Bobby, Bobby, Bobby. man you've got to stop boxing. Your brain cells are dying, can't you see that? Anyway, don't take too many punches. Your the best, good luck in the fututre. Hope we keep in touch. Thanx to F. Kariadakis for being such good friends of mine. E, hope your tail bone feels better. B slow down with the SAAB. Good luck to John RRRoy, Bill and T. Phil stop switching girls every week. Bumboclat goes to all my friends in math class. Good luck to you all my frriends.

She is the perfect combination of everything. A beautiful voice, a talented actress, a scholar, community leader and friend are just a few of her attributes. Debbie Lerman has done everything.

Debbie is involved with several activities. She is a member of octet and chorus. Debbie went with the Octets to the Debussy Festival in France as well as singing twice in the District Chorus. She has also choreographed several cooperative theatre shows and octet dances. Debs is an active member and currently the President of Curtain and Cue. Debbie is a multitasking person. Not only does she have one of the best voices in the high school, but she is a great actress and performer. She has been in all the musicals and several dramas throughout high school. This year she does more activities, but there are too many to possibly recall.

Debbie is also a community leader. Debbie seems to always be passing out petitions and raising funds. However, possibly Debbie's greatest achievement is her high academic standing. With all she does extra-curricularly, it is truly amazing to see how well she does in all subjects. Debbie really applies herself and it pays off. Debbie has received so many academic awards, there is no way I can remember them all.

Keep an eye out for Debbie. I am sure one day we will read her name on a Broadway show bill or in the papers for some noble deed or academic award. Debbie will be successful in anything she does. We will always be able to say "we knew her when.." and I will always say "Debs is a true friend". No matter what she does with her future, Debbie will always find the perfect combination.

Four years in this school, where has the time gone? Time definitely well spent on mayhem and wasted homework. I'm just glad we made it because now we can go out and see if these were really the best years of our lives or if our parents were full of it. To the posse, friends 4-ever. So what are we doing this weekend anyway? I will remember football always-especially when my knee acts up. TO MY CLOSEST FRIENDS: JS-You're my best friend and all, but turn the bass DOWN! BT-You have gone for every country. Now your goal is the 50 states. DG-Keep wearing shorts, we have a pool on when you'll catch pneuminia! MK- Relax man, you're almost out of Winchester. BR-Sieze the day, or at least the perfect hair gel. JL- Stay still, the rattling chain is driving me nuts! RL- So much for Uptown. BD- The warwagon still runs, but for how long? HK-sorry we suggested you get a haircut. But if it makes you feel better, we regret it too. Chem (DS, JM, LP, A(B)R, CB, ER, & MB) I didn't forget ya! Before I go, I have to say thank you Mom, Dad, and family. Love ya.

The first word that comes to mind when I think about Deirdre Murdock is enthusiasm. Anyone who knows her can relate to me. She puts all of her effort into everything that she does and makes the best out of every situation, both the good and bad. She is sincere and would be willing to help anyone out. Deirdre demonstrates leadership qualities as captain of the Field Hockey and track team. She is always encouraging her teammates to give it all that they have and sometimes even acts like a coach.

In addition to her excellent athletic abilities, she is involved with many school-related activities, such as Council on Youth, Reaction, the German Club and is presently the secretary of the senior class. I don't know anyone who participates in so many activities, remains at the top of the class, and can still make time for friends. Although academics are very important to her, Deirdre definitely knows when it's time to relax.

Deirdre seems to have a contagious laughter. Whenever you're around her, you can't help but smile. People who don't know her sometimes think she is crazy. She is a very "spur-of-the-moment" person which makes her personality so original. So if you see this face at a party wearing 60's clothes, at Saturday Night Rock-n-Bowl at the Woburn Bowladrome, or crosscountry skiing around Winches-ter, you'll know it's Deidre.

"Eyes With Pride"

Most of you wouldn't know the significance of this title, but it sure means a great deal to one senior student. Everything Patty Cummings does is done with pride. Pride is the Keyword that keeps this student so unique to many others.

Other seniors at this time feel that they don't have to work since it's their last year in high school. But Patty Cummings can't waste much time thinking about the little things in life when her other activities are so time consuming.

Her workload consists of demanding classes such as AP Physics and AP Calculus. She also faces an honors Humanities class. Being close to the top of our class, she is in the National Honor Society and is our current S.A.D.D. president. "I believe S.A.D.D. is an important part of the student body that educates those students involved. We try to bring an awareness of drinking and driving to the Winchester Community," she says strongly.

Patty's most unique characteristic, however, is her talent in music. She learned to play several instruments at a young age and continues to challenge her knowledge of music. Being an active member for four years in the W.H.S. Band and Jazz Band and the Chorus' piano player, has given her an opportunity to expand her musical knowledge. Patty was one of the two drum majors for the high school band and worked hard at getting there because her summers were spent at a drum major camp. Co-drum major, Patti Williams, adds, "Patty enjoys everything, and she lives life to the fullest. She brings enthusiasm and fun to everything she sets her mind to and she made a great drum major. When we were at camp, she placed fifth in a march-off out of three hundred prospective drum majors."

Even Patty's outside school activities reflect her musical talent. She is honored to participate with the Massachusetts Youth Wind Ensemble (MYWE) which is held at the New England Conservatory of Music and was competitively selected for Senior Districts. She also makes weekly commitments to teaching saxophone lessons to students that wish to follow in her footsteps. When asked to sum up this senior, band director Priscilla Miller said, "Patty Cummings is a wonderful and dedicated musician who exemplifies a very high level of student leadership as the marching band's drum major."

With everything going on in her life, when asked if she found it hard to find time for herself and concentrate on her schoolwork, Patty replied, "Yes, definitely, without a doubt, no question!" But no matter what endeavors she may face, she will always have her "feet together, stomach in, chest out, shoulders back, chin up, eyes _____ with pride."

2. My family, you always have been there for me and I love you all. Kelly, even though we may have our differences, you are still one my closest friends.

1. Michael, I don't know what I'd do without you. I never want to find out. I Love You.
3. We've made it to senior year. Deepa, you're the best we will never grow apart. Murph uh...uh Murph stick with sniff, shrug, and shake, stay away from M.M. All my friends CW,JD,AA,CM,DS,DL,AS,JR,RR, and everyone never change and never lose touch. Girls Octet rules. To the Senior Class, it's been great and it's only the beginning.

It's so hard to believe the past four years of my life are now coming to an end. To some high school may have sucked. But for me it was one long special. I only hope that the people who made these memories will keep me in their thoughts and hearts when I am gone. As much as we have changed, I still love you all.

"All we can do is make the best of our friends-love and cherish what's good in them, and keep out of the way what is bad."

The Scotsman

Bryan Taylor joined us at the begining of Junior year, the new kid in town. Actually, the new kid in the country. When you first talk to Bryan, it was almost as if you needed a translator. He came from Scotland with a dazzling accent that put a glimmer in every young female's eye. The girls dreamed about getting him alone. When he wasn't torturing the ladies, Bryan was a very instrumental player in the Sachems Middlesex League championship season. As the tireless left halfback, Bryan sprinted the sidelines with the greatest of ease. The ball was magnetized to his foot as he dribbled around and around and around.

Despite his dizzying soccer ability and the fact that he was the fastest typist in the state, Bryan was a bit of a social outcast early in his tenure. Many felt that was a result of the "pledge". But as time passed and people were able to carry on a conversation with him, Bryan fit right in. Everyone was jealous of his singing prowess, the girls couldn't get enough of him.

This article may have a dab of sarcasm here and there, but some good natured fun is a trademark with the Scotsman. We're glad you came, and we'll be sad to see you go.
